

State-of-the-art sports training center opens this week in Naples

Athletic Republic, a premier destination for individualized, sport-specific training backed by data and science, is set to open its newest location in Naples on May 7. Located at 6425 Naples Boulevard, the innovative training center focuses on one’s metabolic, neurologic, and muscular systems in order for athletes to maximize their abilities and achieve their sports performance goals.

Athletic Republic Naples is owned and operated by local entrepreneur Carolyn Homberger, along with her husband Eric. After working for 15 years for a global financial technology company in Naples, Ms. Homberger decided it was time to pursue a lifelong dream of business ownership in the community. As an active distance runner and mother of three young athletes, Athletic Republic perfectly matched Carolyn’s business and personal interests.

“Athletic Republic represents a truly modern way to train blending technology, science-based protocols and good old hard work. Playing sports had a major influence in my life and I hope this center will serve as a place where athletes can hone their athleticism as well as goal setting and leadership skills,” said Ms. Homberger. “It’s both humbling and exciting to bring a fitness concept like this to the Naples community that assists everyone in achieving their goals.”

As a way to introduce themselves to the community, Athletic Republic Naples will host a Grand Opening Celebration on Saturday, May 7. With a ribbon-cutting ceremony with Chamber of Commerce taking place at 5:30 p.m. Friday, May 6, the new training facility will offer residents and guests complementary training sessions, facility tours, and up to $100 off on Founding Memberships.

Athletic Republic Naples is open six days a week (Mon-Sat) and available for private training and team training. For more information, visit www.Naples.AthleticRepublic.com or call 239-429-0653. ■
